

AHLERS TRANSPORTATION SECURITY POLICY

Since 1909 AHLERS Group has been supplying logistics services in multiple countries.

The scope of the present transportation security policy applies to AHLERS operations of cargo forwarding and transportation, including high value and theft targeted (HVTT).

The objective of AHLERS in the transportation security is to safeguard customers' transported assets through minimizing and preventing cargo losses from the supply chain by continuous increase of the economic, physical, operational, personnel, information and logistics security.

The AHLERS management commits to the following related to the transportation security:

- comply with all applicable requirements of legislations, international agreements, contracts and industry standards;
- excel current transportation processes through effective management of the transportation security risks;
- use risk-oriented approach and apply various protective means and methods to sustain and excel the current security level;
- increase the awareness of the AHLERS personnel and business partners in the transportation security threats and risks;
- control and assess the effectiveness of the security measures applied on the logistics routes to ensure continuous improvement;
- manage security incidents, including notifying the Buyer of the incidents with the cargo and investigation of all incidents with the cargo to identify the reasons and prevent the recurrence of the incidents;
- excel the regulatory framework of the Security Management System (SeMS) through developing and reviewing of the processes in their respective areas of Operations;
- facilitate the growth of personnel's knowledge and skills in transportation security, preserve of the gained expertise, of special and critical competences;
- enable the growth of the common culture in transportation security and promotion of the best practices at the platforms of TAPA, industry associations and partnering organizations;
- ensure continuous improvement of the transportation security management to meet all the expectations of AHLERS, Buyers, business partners and other interested parties.

Ahlers Management and Staff take the commitment to ensure implementation of the current Transportation Security Policy.

Group Chief Executive Officer

Stefan Leon Elizabeth Van Doorslaer

